GOSPEL: ST LUKE 24:35-48

The disciples are trying to make sense of recent events. Jesus tells them how what has happened to Him had all been foretold in the Scriptures and that His suffering, death and resurrection were central to the fulfilment of God's plan for salvation. As God's children – children of the Resurrection – we are all part of God's plan. We, the disciples of today, try to make sense of events in our lives too; we experience fears, doubts, hopes and joys, but in the ordinariness of our daily and family lives – in the experiences of love, forgiveness, compassion, reconciliation, generosity, the work of justice and the making of peace – are the signs of the Spirit of the Risen Lord within us and among us.

We thank God today for revealing His great love and mercy to us in the Scriptures and in the Eucharist and we ask Him for the grace to open our hearts and minds to these great gifts and to follow His glorious plan for our lives.

'You are Witnesses of these things'

Today's Gospel is one of the resurrection accounts from St. Luke's Gospel. It begins with the disciples recalling their experience on the road to Emmaus and how they recognised Jesus in the breaking of bread. The Gospel continues into another account of the Risen Jesus with his disciples. Jesus interrupts the disciple's story and greets them with 'Peace' (Shalom) yet, in this account, they are terrified by this. Jesus shows them his wounds and Luke tells us that they are full of joy, but they still can't believe it and think it is a ghost. Jesus shows them that he is no ghost as he asks for food and eats fish with them. Jesus then journeys with them back through the scriptures in order to open their minds. He speaks to them compassionately, trying to relieve their anxiety and fear.

Jesus tells the disciples that 'you are witnesses of these things'. Luke wants to establish an important point, that these disciples are witnesses to the Resurrection, they ate with Jesus after his death and he opened their minds. The Resurrection accounts in the Gospels are not fantasy, they are the actual experiences of Jesus' disciples. So often in Luke's Gospel Jesus conveys his message through food and banquets, moments of celebration. The Risen Christ brings compassion and joy into difficult spaces. Today let us share with Jesus the situations in our lives which need an injection of compassion and Easter joy.

'Every year the dull and dead in us meets our Easter challenge: to be open to the unexpected, to believe beyond our security, to welcome God in every form, and trust in our own greeting.'
